DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Applicant should clarify the structure of the upper throughhole is provided for the exhaust of air from the compartment and the lower throughhole is provided for the exhaust of wear particles. It appears that the claimed configuration does not provide for an intake.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over applicant's admitted prior art shown in figure 1 [AAPA, hereinafter] in view of Mueller [DE 3802648A1]

AAPA discloses a solenoid [100] having a cylindrical excitation coil [104] and a plunger [102] movable within the excitation coil, the solenoid being adapted to generate a magnetic force to move the plunger when an electric current is applied to the excitation coil, wherein a side of the plunger compartment accommodating the plunger and fluid is closed as a cover [106] formed of a magnetic material and a cylindrical projection [107] projecting from the cover portion in such a manner as to surround a part of an outer periphery of the plunger and the cover being provided with a through hole extending therethrough.

AAPA disclose the instant claimed invention except for the cover including a pair of throughholes extending through from an upper portion to a bottom portion thereof.

Mueller discloses a solenoid [figure 2] including a plunger [3] and a cover portion [12] with a pair of upper and lower throughholes [12] to provide for the discharge of wear particles and exhaust.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the throughhole design of Mueller with the solenoid of AAPA in order to provide venting and particle discharge for the compartment.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 3 has been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
